Why is manufacturer approval important?

An OEM approved oil is required during warranty as it has been subjected to a variety of stringent and demanding tests by each individual car manufacturer. Oils that 'meets' an OEM approval will not have been through this process and may invalidate a vehicle's warranty.

Valvoline Guarantee

Valvoline uses only the highest quality base oils and additives to guarantee its oil 'stays in grade' throughout an OEM recommended service interval, to maintain performance and environmental standards of the vehicle.
